TRIUMPHANT EAGLE LEAVES MOON

RUSSIAN MYSTERY

Luna Lands 500 Miles From Eagle

JODRELL BANK, England (AP) — Russia landed Luna 15 on the moon's surface today, 500 miles from where America's Apollo astronauts were preparing to take off on their journey back to earth, Jodrell Bank Observatory reported.

Signals picked up at the giant radio-telescope here indicated that after four days of moon orbit the unmanned probe land on the moon's Sea of Crises.

Jodrell Observatory, headed by 55-year-old Sir Bernard Lovell, stood by for any sign that Luna itself might be preparing to return to earth.

Prof. John G. Davies, Lovell's aide, said at 12:05 p.m. EDT: "Luna has landed."

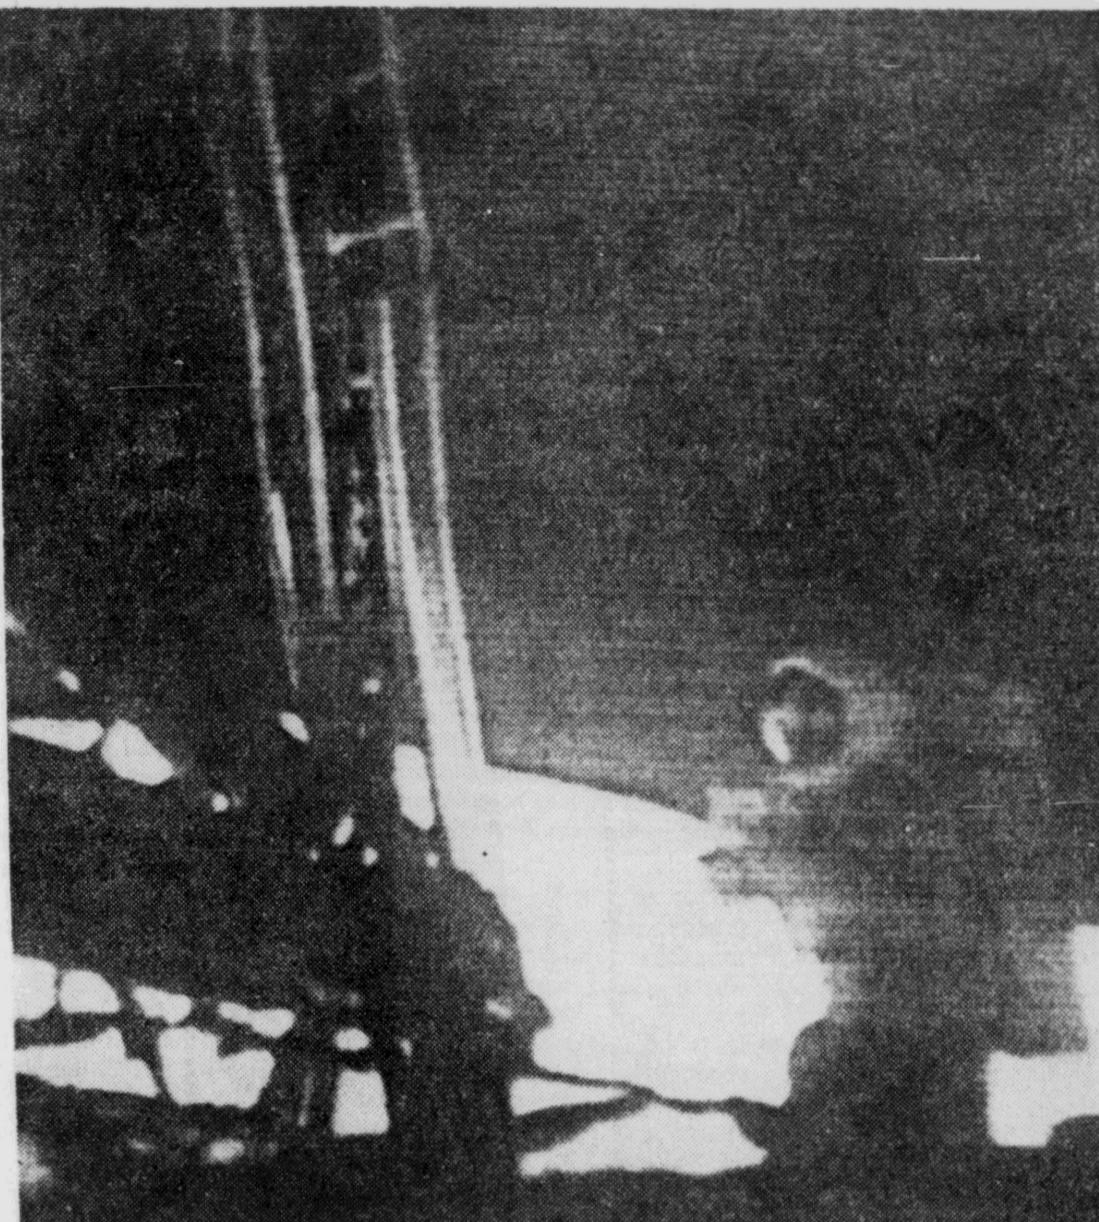

The last signals received from Luna were "appropriate to a soft landing," he added.

Unofficial sources in Moscow had predicted when Luna 15 took off July 13 that it would attempt a remote-controlled lunar landing to retrieve a sample of moon soil—a task already performed by the American astronauts.

But in the absence of signals, there was no immediate indication that Luna 15 was operating "live" on the moon's surface.

Asked about the possibility that the probe could still lift off with a lunar sample for a round trip to earth ahead of Apollo 11, Davies said: "It is now possible that the Russian probe will be back faster than the Americans. There may be savings in time with an unmanned craft with no docking procedures."

Nearly Everyone But Lovers Cheer Heroes

LONDON (AP) — Laplanders pasturing their reindeer listened on transistor radios. Japanese stayed up all night to watch on television. Millions around the world hung on every word from the two U.S. astronauts walking on the moon.

In some countries many remained unaware. Communist China, with one quarter of the world's population, did not broadcast news about Apollo 11, nor did North Vietnam or North Korea.

As Neil A. Armstrong's boots scuffed the lunar dust, it was just before sunrise in most of Europe and a crowd of 2,000 still clustered around a giant television screen in London's Trafalgar Square.

At the Jodrell Bank radio observatory, Sir Bernard Lovell, Britain's leading space expert, stopped tracking the progress of the Soviet craft Luna 15 over the moon to watch Armstrong.

"I'm just speechless with amazement," Lovell said. "There is nothing more I can say than that it is absolutely fantastic. One can scarcely believe it is taking place as one sees it."

Crowds in front of TV screens at Paris sidewalk cafes and bars in Rome cheered as Armstrong bounded over the moon's surface and Buzz Aldrin began his descent.

In Venezuela, today is a national holiday, and the bells of hundred of churches pealed during the walk. A Japanese girl in Tokyo said as she watched a streetside monitor, "It's like a dream, although I know it's not a dream."

One Yugoslav teen-ager sounded a dissent: "They have

Inside the hearse the officers turned up more jewelry and suspected narcotics, including a vial marked demerol, a binoculars.

Tanks Battle After Raid Over Suez

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

An artillery and tank battle broke out today near Suez City in the area where Egyptian and Israeli forces yesterday fought the heaviest battle since the June, 1967 War. In Cairo, President Gamal Abdel Nasser conferred with his highest military commanders. (See photo, page 3.)

In yesterday's fighting, which began with an Israeli commando raid, Egypt said its planes and antiaircraft defenses shot down 19 Israeli jet fighters. Israel rejected the Arab claim as an exaggeration and declared its own victory.

The fighting today forced cancellation of a scheduled trip to Suez City for Egyptian journalists, and the military declined to give further details of the latest outbreak.

Nasser conferred with War Minister Gen. Muhammad Fawzi and Gen. Muhammad Ali Fahmi, commander of the air defenses. The Voice of Arabs Radio said Nasser told them he was satisfied with the outcome of yesterday's battle and was

Historic Footprints

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Two Americans blasted off from the moon today, reaching the relative safety of lunar orbit and leaving their footprints in the lunar dust and in the history of man.

It was the first time anything had ever rocketed away from the moon.

Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. immediately began pursuing the command ship, orbiting 69 miles above the surface with astronaut Michael Collins at the controls.

"Beautiful. Very smooth," Aldrin commented as Eagle took off from the moon. "A very quiet ride. There's that one crater down there."

"We're a little bit of slow walking here," he said later.

"Shutdown," he called out as the engine stopped.

"Great," mission control said and reported Eagle in a near-perfect orbit ranging from about 11 to 54 miles high.

They had to catch Collins in a 3½-hour chase to get back to earth. Their lunar vehicle was not built to take them home.

READY TO RESCUE

Collins was spring-loaded to speed to the rescue if something should go wrong with the lunar taxi called Eagle.

"Roger, understand we're No. 1 on the runway," Aldrin said minutes before the blastoff.

A fiery burst from a small engine propelled Armstrong and Aldrin off the moon at 1:54 p.m. EDT, ending man's first exploration of another celestial body.

They had camped at the base named Tranquillity for 21 hours 36 minutes, raising the banner of their nation above it and fulfilling a dream of the ages. Seven minutes 18 seconds after the liftoff, Eagle's cabin section settled into a low lunar orbit. The bottom half of the vehicle, with the landing legs, served as a launching pad and was left on the moon, along with the TV camera that depicted their historic lunar walk.

TEAMWORK

The command ship, Columbia, and Eagle, had worked in close radio harmony as the critical firing neared. Precisely 69 seconds after Collins flashed over the landing site, Armstrong and Aldrin took off.

By the time they reached orbit, Columbia was 300 miles ahead and the chase was on.

Armstrong and Aldrin were to execute several intricate maneuvers, triggered by engine firings, to close the gap and catch its fleeting target.

Linkup was scheduled for 5:32 p.m.

Once linked up, the astronauts plan to fire themselves back toward earth early tomorrow, ending a space odyssey in which they etched their names beside those of history's great explorers Columbus, Balboa, Magellan, da Gama and Byrd.

But what a difference.

When Columbus landed in the New World, Spain's Queen Isabella didn't hear about it for six weeks.

RINGSIDE SEAT

Through the magic of television, an estimated 500 million people around the world had a ringside seat to man's greatest adventure.

It was unforgettable.

Armstrong climbed through the LM hatch and started backing down a nine-rung ladder. On the second rung from the bottom, he opened a compartment, exposing a television camera.

The picture was black and white and somewhat jerky, but it recorded history.

Among scientists, there was elation that the crew had landed in an area with a variety of rocks, a treasure that held at least the hope of a rich payoff in the search to learn more about moon and earth.

FIRST WORDS

As Armstrong planted his size 9½ left boot on the powdery surface at 10:56 p.m. Sunday, he spoke words that will be remembered for all time: "That's one small step for man, a giant leap for mankind."

The camera trained on Aldrin as he stepped on the far shore 20 minutes later and exclaimed: "Beautiful! Beautiful! Magnificent desolation."

There were other memorable utterances during the day of high adventure.

There were Armstrong's words when Eagle separated from the command ship to start the dangerous descent: "The Eagle is flying."

There were Armstrong's—and man's—first words from the moon's surface after touchdown at 4:18 p.m.: "Houston ... Tranquillity base here. The Eagle has landed."

Or when Aldrin, a deeply religious man, relayed this message to the world shortly after

KENNEDY FACES CHARGE IN DEATH

July 28 Hearing Set On Fatal Hours

After Party Near Martha's Vineyard

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — Police today filed a formal complaint charging Sen. Edward M. Kennedy with leaving the scene of an accident.

The complaint stems from a weekend wreck on Chappaquidick Island, adjacent to Martha's Vineyard on which this small resort town is located. A young woman was killed and Kennedy injured, though apparently not seriously.

The complaint was filed by Police Chief Domenic J. Arena with the District Court Clerk Thomas A. Teller.

Arena said that an Edgartown lawyer, Richard J. McCarran, had informed the clerk he is representing Kennedy. McCarran asked for a hearing, to which Kennedy is entitled before any summons is issued.

Teller set July 28 for the hearing, which will be held in the Edgartown Courthouse.

A crowd of several hundred persons, mostly tourists, filled the street outside the red brick, century-old courthouse as Arena crossed the street from his headquarters in the Town Hall to visit the clerk.

Arena said yesterday he is "firmly convinced there was no negligence involved" in the accident.

PRESSURE QUERY

At a brief news conference, Arena said that since the accident he had had a lot of telephone calls, mostly from the press, but "many others and telegrams all generally saying 'don't let the pressure get you.'

"But I must say I have had no calls of any description from anybody trying to pressure me," Arena added. Arena said that he was in a situation where "I am damned if I do and damned if I don't."

"Any man of stature in a case like this — the pressure is on the police department — but to me this is a case of leaving the scene of an accident," Arena said.

WOMAN DIES

The mishap occurred between 11 p.m. Friday and 1 a.m. Saturday as Kennedy was driving Mary Jo Kopechne, 28, of Washington, to a landing to catch the ferry back to the Vineyard.

The car skidded off a narrow bridge and landed bottomup in eight feet of water. Kennedy escaped with what a physician said was a mild concussion. Miss Kopechne, former secretary to the late Sen. Robert F.

Tool Burglary

Mary Lou Doyle of 336 Coronado Drive, Petaluma, has told police that tools valued at $233 were taken from her home Friday night. Police said that burglars had forced the door to a storage room in the car port area of the house.

MOSCOW (UPI) — The first escort ships, two submarines, a tender and a tanker.

Kennedy and his wife Joan remained in seclusion yesterday at his home on Squaw Island, a short distance off Hyannis Port on Cape Cod where the Kennedy compound is located. A contingent of police kept newsmen and sightseers at a distance.

The senator's parents, former Ambassador and Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, also were in seclusion at their home within the compound. It was not known whether the ambassador, who has been in ill health since suffering a stroke in 1961, had been told of the accident.

Sausalitans Stage March Against Garbage, Parking

A trail of 50 to 150 praying, poetry-reading Sausalitans yesterday held a sarcasm-laden protest against Sausalito trash downtown decay and parking lots.

The protest band, led by bar owner Neil Davis and poet Lew Welch, wended from city hall along the waterfront and back to Vina del Mar Plaza to mark eyeshores and garbage heaps with prayers.

The procession stopped to bless an old parking ticket, then an old abandoned yellow building which Davis said was owned by "the richest man in town," J. Herbert Madden.

The group put a potted plant in a paved area on the sandspit which Davis said was once a beach, but has been unused since it was paved.

Next Welch, who served as high priest for the expedition, led the way to a collection of garbage cans where he put a tire around his neck and recited his poem:

"Sausalito, little willow, perfect beach by the last bay in the world, none more beautiful, today we kneel at the feet and curse the men who have misused you."

Returning to the plaza, speakers explained to the crowd of tourists and protesters why the park is closed on weekends, and told their grievances against city policies which they say are bringing more tourists, litter and parking lots to the city.

Davis said he sent a telegram yesterday to Apollo mission control in Houston reading, "disregard Sausalito parking lots as alternate landing site. Dynamic city council just passed emergency ordinance that makes overtime parking tickets for spacecraft extremely costly."

One speaker said Mayor Earl F. Dunnphy and City Mgr. George M. Patterson should resign to save face in the light of Sausalito's condition.

Davis said the city has disregarded the conditions downtown while spending eight years and $100,000 studying the central waterfront plan which he said has now been labeled too expensive to implement.

Marchers carried nickels to feed expired parking meters, and signs reading, "Whatever happened to the central waterfront plan?" "Welcome to Sausalito, parking lot capital of the world," and similar sentiments.

Students who will perform are Julie Farley, Roger Kray, Karen Fugate, Leonard Kray, Tamara Nelson, Michelle Patrick, Cathy Johnson, Cindy Johnson, Cathy Webster, Russel Broadbent, Kim Bohner, Susan Chakos, Hilary Crawford, Karen O'Brien, Kim Smiley, Mary Bliss, Jesse Seales, Pierette Bliss, Liz Salgo, Roland Smith, Mark Seales, Troy Crawford and Robin Meyer. Teachers are Mrs. Ardith Terris and Mrs. Katherine Yardsas.

Two other girls, Cherry, 13, and Tammy, 7, received minor injuries. The three girls are Cockings' daughters from a previous marriage, Sonoma County sheriff's deputies said.

The officers said they found several thousand benzodiazepine and second pills and several lids of marijuana in the car.

His daughter, Pamela, was hurled from the car and crushed when the vehicle left the Gravenstein highway five miles west of Cotati early today.

California Highway Patrolman said Cockings lost control on a slight curve. The car went off the road, smashed into a power pole and overturned.

The driver's wife, Linda, 21, suffered a broken neck. She was in serious condition at Sonoma County General Hospital.

Authorities charged her with transporting drugs and marijuana and carrying a concealed weapon—a loaded .22 pistol found in her purse.

Donald Robert Cockings, 29, who was not hurt in the crash, was also charged with transporting dangerous drugs and marijuana.

Viet Cong Assault Ends Lull

SAIGON (UPI)—The Viet Cong shelled 18 Allied targets last night and today following the assertion of America's top military man that their current battle lull is not a sign of peace.

Military spokesmen said the overnight rocket and mortar barrages did little damage. They reported 212 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese dead in scattered fights yesterday against light Allied losses.

The costliest single incident for the Allies yesterday was the downing of a U.S. Marine helicopter on the northern coast, killing eight South Vietnamese soldiers and wounding eight. One American was hurt.

Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, wound up a four-day personal investigation of the battle lull for President Richard M. Nixon yesterday. He ruled out complete U.S. withdrawal from the war by the end of 1970.

He was asked if he considered the lull, now in its fifth week, a sign that the Communists are ready to scale down the war.

"No, I do not," he told a news conference before he left for home. "As you know, the enemy's level of combat has always been cyclic."

"He has in the past launched offensives and thereafter withdrawn to his sanctuaries in the remote areas of the country or into Laos or Cambodia and then come back again after he has had chance to refit, replace his troops and retrain."

"And therefore, I would be unable to allege any political motivation to the present low level of combat."

Wheeler thereby took the view of U.S. field commanders—that another Communist offensive is in the making—as opposed to U.S. peace negotiators who hoped the lull was a sign the guerrillas were ready to scale down the war.

Nixon dispatched the general to the war zone last week to find out whether the lull meant the United States could scale down offensive operations or announce that more GIs would be withdrawn from the war.

El Salvador Rejects OAS Cease-Fire; Withdrawal Bid

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The chief of an Organization of American States (OAS) peace team said yesterday El Salvador has refused to comply with a cease-fire calling for the withdrawal of its soldiers from Honduras.

Little action was reported yesterday between the El Salvadorean invasion troops and Honduran defenders in their undeclared war.

Under OAS rules, the organization could send arms and troops to Honduras should El Salvador persist in its invasion. An economic boycott could be imposed.

El Salvador repeated that it will not pull its troops out of Honduras until it receives effective guarantees that the 300,000 El Salvadoreans living in Honduras would be protected against harm.

State Senate Pares Aid To Schools; Students Hit

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate voted today to boost state appropriations to local schools by $95 million — far less than sought by financially hard-pressed school districts throughout California.

The measure would boost state aid to primary and elementary schools and junior colleges to a record $1.59 billion. Almost every school district in An Israeli commando raid against an Egyptian island in the Gulf of Suez triggered artillery duels across the entire 102-mile Suez Canal, with both sides throwing in waves of retaliatory air strikes.

Egyptian government spokesman Mohamed El Zayyat called Israel's air raids into Egypt the first since the June 1967 war — "vindictive operations against civilian as well as military targets and very serious escalation, escalation toward what I don't know."

Israeli said it shot down five Egyptian warplanes in dogfights and lost two planes of its own. Egypt reported one aircraft lost in the nine hours of aerial combat between the two air forces over Suez.

Israel used more firepower today than at any time since the six-day war," a top Israeli military commander said in Tel Aviv. He listed six soldiers killed, the heaviest Israeli losses since the war.

Earlier, Senate and Assembly leaders predicted a two-house deadlock on the issue.

Meanwhile, the Assembly passed 58-4 today a bill requiring state college and university administrators to take disciplinary action against student protesters convicted of offenses arising from campus disorders.

The bill, which now goes to the Senate, would also suspend state financial aid for two years to any private or public university or college student convicted of campus disruptions. A convicted student would have the right to present his case to a hearing board, which would have the final say in suspending scholarships and loans.

Ambassador Guillermo Sevil-Sacasa of Nicaragua, head of the OAS peace team, accused El Salvador of refusing to withdraw its troops and warned of possible OAS sanctions, military and economic.

Under OAS rules, the organization could send arms and troops to Honduras should El Salvador persist in its invasion. An economic boycott could be imposed.

They unveiled a stainless steel plaque bearing these words: "Here men from planet earth first set foot upon the moon, July, 1969. A.D. We came in peace for all mankind."

They left on the moon a disc on which messages from the leaders of 76 nations had been recorded. They will return to earth with their flags of 136 nations, including Russia. And they left behind mementos for three Americans and two Russians who died for the cause of space exploration.

The theme was carried through when President Nixon placed an extraordinary radio call to Armstrong and Aldrin as they strolled the surface.

As they flanked the American flag, Nixon said, "I can't tell you how proud we all are of what you have done for every American. This has to be a proudest day of our lives."

"For people all over the world I am sure that they too join with Americans in recognizing what an immense feat this is. Because of what you have done the heavens have become part of man's world..."

Police reported finding Frank and Mace at the telephone booth with the 16-year-old Vallejo girl and a 17-year-old Vallejo boy. The teen-agers were booked at juvenile hall as runaways.

In their car, police said, three typewriters, an adding machine and a rotary public seal from Alameda County were found, along with a 25-caliber pistol.

OBITUARIES

John Bugeia Dies At 81

Funeral for John Oscar Bugeia, 81, former Novato horse breeder, will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the Sorenson Funeral Home, Petaluma. Burial will be at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

Bugeia, who lived in the Novato area until ten years ago, died Saturday at his home at 975 Peepur Road, Petaluma, after a long illness.

A lifelong breeder of horses, Bugeia's most famous horse, Kenilworth, was named grand champion at the 1915 Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco. He was a member of the California Horse Breeders Association.

The camera was mounted 40 or 50 feet away from the LM so that earthlings could watch their entire period outside—2 hours, 14 minutes for Armstrong and one hour, 44 minutes for Aldrin.

One in their pride in what you have done, one in our prayers that you will return safely to earth."

Although at times it appeared they were on a romp in the park, Armstrong and Aldrin carried out a true exploration of the moon.

They left on the moon a disc on which messages from the leaders of 76 nations had been recorded.

Several times they tested their ability to move about in the one-sixth gravity field of the moon, loping like antelopes, and bouncing like kangaroos.

"It's not difficult at all moving about in one-sixth 'G,'" commander Armstrong reported, as he flashed before the camera like a graceful gazelle.

The moon also deployed two scientific instruments on the moon to relay data long after they left. They were a seismometer to measure moonquakes and other disturbances and a small mirror to reflect earth laser beams fired from California back to earth.

The sensitive seismometer, monitored on earth, picked up the footsteps of the astronauts and recorded a thump when they turned litterbug and dumped a bag of unneeded equipment overboard after returning to their landing vehicle.

Kentfield found the woman lying in front of the flat after she apparently crawled out a living room window that was smashed.

The Bolinas family that Avery was staying with reported to deputies that he returned home about 3:30 a.m., then left carrying a sleeping bag. Deputies said he told the family he was going to sleep outside.

It was later discovered Avery also took two suitcases and a footlocker.

Radical Front Starts Legal Defense Fund

OAKLAND (AP) — A new nationwide defense fund for militants and plans for a national referendum aimed at decentralizing police departments were announced at a Black Panther-sponsored weekend conference.

In announcing the referendum yesterday Black Panther national chairman Bobby Seale also said 150 American Liberation Front committees will pressure police departments to have patrolmen live in the neighborhoods where they work.

"If that policeman brutalizes someone in the community and comes back there to sleep that night, we can deal with him," Seale said to about 2,000 delegates to the National Conference for a United Front Against Fascism, which is composed of about 50 militant groups.

His announcement was coupled at the conference's closing session by a declaration by attorney Charles Garry of San Francisco that a nationwide legal defense fund has been organized for members of militant groups, to raise money for bail and legal fees.

In discussing the fund, Garry said he and attorney William Kunstler of New York had met with 50 other lawyers to form it. He also appealed to each of the groups at the conference to supply a permanent liaison man to work with the fund.

School Burglar Signs Note With Big Name

"Thank you very much for all the nice toys," read the note found at the scene of a burglary yesterday, San Rafael police said today. The note was signed "Ronald Reagan."

The burglary, one of four reported during the weekend, took place last night at San Rafael High School and was discovered by an officer on patrol after he found a tape recorder with a high school label on Mission Avenue at Green Way.

He discovered the audio visual room had been entered, apparently by breaking a window. Outside he found two opaque projectors. In the bushes nearby he located more projectors and microphones. Another opaque projector was found in a wheelbarrow behind a building on Mary Street at Fourth Street, police said.

School officials had not determined today whether anything was missing.

Charles Ferdinand Daglow of 10 Meyer Road, San Rafael, reported Friday someone had smashed a window and entered his home. A television and two men's suits valued at a total of $800 were missing, he told police.

Three-Month Shell Boycott Ended By Union

MARTINEZ (UPI)—Workers at Shell oil refineries in Martinez and Wilmington-Dominguez have ratified a new contract, ending a bitter three-month strike and consumer boycott.

A spokesman for the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union said 60 per cent of its membership ratified the new pact.

The workers went on strike Jan. 4 and returned to their jobs March 17 with increased pay and benefits, but no contract. The new pact provides all employees with 1969 vacations in exchange for a union promise to lift a consumer boycott against the company.

The settlement was reached after the company agreed to rehire six employees who were charged with strike violence. Four others will have their cases submitted to arbitration.

Police said they received a telephone report at 3:51 a.m. that a burglary was in progress at the snack bar, East D and Hopper Streets. Officers said the restaurant was empty on their arrival, but that the trio of youngsters were later apprehended running in the area.

Police

said the boys were also responsible for the 1:15 a.m. theft of a motorboat belonging to Mrs. Ernestine A. Sisco, 64 Montego Key, Ignacio. The boat had been taken from the city dock at Western Avenue and later recovered at the rear of the Pioneer Shell Co. along the river.

Officers

said the youths had items with them that tied them to both incidents.

Vietnam War Hero Killed In Cycle Jump

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI)—Marine Maj. Steven Pless, holder of the Congressional medal of Honor and one of America's most decorated heroes in Vietnam, was killed yesterday when his motorcycle jumped a bridge span.

Pless plunged into the inter-coastal waterway beneath the bridge linking Pensacola and Pensacola Beach. Divers pulled his body from the water after a seven-hour search.

Pless, 29, won his decorations while flying 780 combat missions in Vietnam as a helicopter pilot.

He was awarded the Medal of Honor for rescuing four soldiers trapped by heavy enemy fire at Quang Nga on Aug. 19, 1967. President Lyndon Johnson presented the medal on Jan. 16, 1968.

Motorboat And Snack Bar Theft Suspects Held

Three Petaluma boys were arrested yesterday on suspicion of stealing a motorboat and burglarizing a snack shop.

Turned over to juvenile authorities were Andre A. Lopes, 14, of 425 Coronado Drive; Vernon Doyle, 14, of 336 Coronado Drive; and Ronald J. Harris, 12, of 404 South McDowell Boulevard.

Police said they received a telephone report at 3:51 a.m. that a burglary was in progress at the snack bar, East D and Hopper Streets. Officers said the restaurant was empty on their arrival, but that the trio of youngsters were later apprehended running in the area.

Man Hurt As Auto Leaves Road In Fog

Steve J. Ryan, 20, of 383 Hyacinth Way, San Rafael, was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for face scrapes suffered when a car hit a utility pole at 11:30 p.m. on Sequoia Valley Road above Mill Valley, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol said Ryan was a passenger in a car driven by David L. Weaver, 16, of Birch Road, Bolinas, when the car ran off the roadway in fog.

Black Hearse Clues Police To Suspected Assailants

Three Marin men who travel in a black hearse were booked into Marin County Jail at midnight Saturday after being identified as assailants in a kicking fight in Corte Madera, police reported.

Terrence R. Rilla, 18, of 3 Maple Road and James McKenna, 18, of 216 Ridgeway Avenue, both of Kentfield, and Robert L. Davis, 20, of 19 Frances Avenue, Larkspur, were booked on suspicion of disturbing the peace and assault with a deadly weapon, police said.

Rilla was also booked on investigation of hindering an officer by giving false identification. The men were held in lieu of $1,250 bail each.

Nicholas William Paun, 18, of 705 Butterfield Road, San Anselmo, one of the victims of the fight, was reported in good condition today at Kaiser Foundation Hospital, San Francisco, where he is being treated for facial bruises and cuts.

The other victim, Richard Gregory Lyon, 18, of 9 Woodward Drive, Corte Madera, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a broken nose and nose bruising.

Police received a call at 10:30 p.m. that a fight was in process at Oakdale Avenue and Sausalito Street, some of the participants having arrived in a black hearse.

Shortly thereafter the Larkspur Police Department reported that the hearse was in front of the Speegee Mart at 118 Corte Madera Avenue and stopped the car for Corte Madera officers.

Seven occupants of the hearse were brought to the police station where Paun and Lyon identified Rilla, Davis and McKenna as having dragged them in the head and kicked them in the head, said police. Reason for the attack was not disclosed, police reported.

Police said they believe that other occupants of the black hearse were later involved in a bizarre burglary from the home of Dave Strait at 263 Sausalito Street.

Straut, said police, reported at 1:30 p.m. yesterday that he was having a party when three men entered his house without invitation and removed a walnut clock radio and an AM/FM table radio. The men were seen leaving in a black hearse, Strait told police.

TWO ATLANTIC CROSSERS — British oarsman John Fairfax, standing in his small boat Britannia,

Trans-Oceanic Rower Lands Near Miami

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — John Fairfax planned for 17 years to be the first man to row the Atlantic. But when he set out to do it in three months, he admits, "I didn't know what I was talking about."

Almost to the day, it took him twice that long to row the 4,000 miles from his starting point, the Canary Islands.

"But I wanted to do it and I did it," said the 32-year-old Briton, "and I feel bloody happy about it."

His long hair bleached by the sun and his eyes bloodshot from the glare of the sea, the grinning London bachelor stroked ashore at 1:56 p.m. EDT Saturday to be congratulated by scores of sunbathers at Hollywood Beach.

One of the first to speak to him, a pale-skinned man in trunks, said: "You're a damn fool, you know."

But Fairfax described himself as a romanticist and said he finally accomplished something he had planned to do since he was a schoolboy of 15.

"I think it is a bit symbolic that I arrived in America, which is a son of England, you know, a rather large son," he said. "And I did it about the same time as you Americans were reaching for the moon."

Guided only by sextant and compass, Fairfax landed only 12 miles north of his planned destination of Miami. Swift currents of the Gulf Stream propelled him 110 miles north during the last 48 hours of his voyage, he said.

Before that, he said, prevailing winds pushed him from Andros Island in the Bahamas southward to within 15 miles of Cuba, so close "I could see one of their lighthouses."

Woman Sailor From Japan Nears Coast

MARINA DEL REY (UPI) — Sharon Sites Adams, who sailed alone from Japan aboard her 31-foot ketch for California 66 days ago, was sighted yesterday five miles off Point Arguello.

Mrs. Adams, 39, who was last seen or heard from in the mid-Pacific more than a month ago, appeared to be none the worse for her 6,000-mile solo voyage.

She will become the first woman to sail across the Pacific alone when she makes her planned landfall in San Diego.

Board Considers Patriotic Policy

The San Rafael Board of Education at its 7:30 p.m. meeting tomorrow will consider adoption of a policy on patriotic observances.

Different observances, aside from the pledge of allegiance, have been tried successfully at Terra Linda High School, and are proposed to be accepted as a policy for both Terra Linda and San Rafael High Schools, Supt. John F. Plank said.

The board will hear reports on community services tax usage, the 1969-70 adult education program and will hold a closed session with its negotiating team in regard to administrator's salaries.

Subdivision Meeting For Glenwood Knolls

A 24-lot subdivision in Glenwood Knolls at Lockwood Drive and Lockwood West will be considered by the San Rafael Planning Commission when it meets at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at city hall.

Also on the commission's agenda is architectural approval for a commercial building to be built at 1601 Fourth Street by Irving Magnes.

International Raft Crew Backing U.N.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Drifting slowly across the Atlantic Ocean for months in their Egyptian papyrus raft Ra, Norwegian explorer Thor Heyerdahl and his crew had time to think over the national differences among men around the world.

They decided that all men should "make their government realize that the United Nations flag, symbolizing the ideas of building bridges and tearing down barriers, marks the only realistic road forward for man in a space age, when our common world is getting ever smaller and our national goals ever larger."

Heyerdahl and his multinational crew radioed their message to United Nations Secretary General U Thant late Saturday night from the yacht Shenandoah, which took them aboard and began a tow of their storm-damaged vessel Friday. The Ra is expected to arrive at Bridgetown, Barbados, later today, and continue its drift westward toward the Lesser Antilles.

The flew the U.N. flag on their drift, an attempt to sail from Africa to Central America to prove that the ancient Egyptians could have used similar rafts to reach the western continents.

Man's underlying brotherhood, their message said, was the lesson they learned in "two months of co-existence on an undulating raft ship, part of which was permanently awash and with a roofed living quarter for seven men measuring 9 by 12 feet."

"Whatever unites mankind is real, profound, and is waiting to be utilized," Heyerdahl said, "in an effort to build bridges between nations in areas where religio-political currents tend to drift nations apart."

Signing the telegram with him were crewmen Santiago Genovese of Mexico, Norman Baker of the United States, Yuri Senkevich of the Soviet Union, Abdoulaye Djibrime of Chad, Georges Sourial of the United Arab Republic and Carlos Mauri of Italy.

Mrs. Adams, a mother of two, became the first woman to sail alone from Los Angeles to Hawaii in the summer of 1965. She learned to sail only five months before, but her husband called her "one of the best sailing students I ever taught."

She left Yokohama last May 12 and about 500 spectators including Yokohama Mayor Ichio Asukata watched the pink and white vessel pull away from the dock.

Mrs. Adams waved and smiled, and then began crying and fought back the tears.

The Sea Sharp carried a radiotelephone, but Adams believed it had become inoperative.

Adams kept track of his wife's progress by watching weather reports along her projected great circle route. For five days, ships in her area reported gale force winds with 20-foot seas.

Last weekend, when it was 40 days since the last sighting by the liner President McKinley, Adams said he was not worried about his wife.

He settled on July 22, tomorrow, for his wife to complete the voyage. As it turned out, he was right on the button.

Lost Woman Survives Desert, Coyote Ordeal

BLYTHE (AP) — A 30-year-old woman who spent 26 hours in the Southern California desert without food or water in 100 degree temperatures, said a pack of coyotes tried to attack her during her ordeal.

"They circled around me and my fire during the night," Norma Smith told Imperial County sheriff's deputies and state border patrolmen who found her.

"Finally one of them came at me. I picked up a big stick and hit him. He ran away and the others went with him."

Mrs. Smith, a mother of two young boys, was found Saturday digging frantically for water in a sun-seared canyon 22 miles from her home in Palo Verde, a little desert community 35 miles southwest of Blythe.

She refused hospitalization, saying, "I'm fine."

She told her rescuers she lost her way while trying to find shelter from a summer cloudburst on her way home on foot from a neighbor's house a mile outside of town.

Eight deputies and border patrolmen in jeeps searched all Friday night for Mrs. Smith after she was reported missing by her brother.

She was sighted by a border patrol plane.

Deputy Sheriff Paul Menta said Mrs. Smith was caked with mud and digging for water with her hands under a mesquite tree when found.

She had ripped off her shorts and blouse and was clad only in her underwear because of the heat.

Menta gave her water and salt tablets, and Mrs. Smith said she had rolled in a mud hole earlier in the day to escape the scorching heat.

She said the coyotes approached her during the night after she had built a fire. She was unable to sleep and told Menta that the animals yelped all night.

Bar Association Finds No Facts, Drops Douglas Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The controversy over Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas' past pay from a Las Vegas-linked foundation is expected to fade out with the American Bar Association's refusal to rule on the issue.

The ABA's ethics committee, in a secret weekend meeting at St. Charles, Ill., said it did not have enough facts to reach a decision on Douglas.

But it stressed again that all judges should avoid any outside financial activities that might interfere with their court duties.

Douglas stepped down in May as the $12,000-a-year president on the Parvin Foundation, which had large stock holdings in a firm which owns three Las Vegas hotels and gambling casinos.

Douglas' action came only a week after Justice Abe Fortas resigned from the Supreme Court under fire because of a $20,000 check from the family foundation of financier Louis E. Wolfson.

A report on suggested improvements to the district's water system will also be made.

Threats of a congressional probe of Douglas' outside salary dried up after the 70-year-old justice resigned from the foundation post for health reasons.

The only investigation still pending is an Internal Revenue Service probe of the foundation's tax-exempt status, and that does not involve Douglas directly.

In this age of gimcracks and chrome, is there a place for a car so masterfully engineered that 90 percent of its value is invisible?

Mercedes-Benz thinks so.

The new Mercedes-Benz 250. To some, it doesn't "look" worth $5,299*. Read why it is.

This endows it with the agility of a scrambling quarterback.

You can blast it over rutted and potholed gravel lanes. It behaves with almost eerie calm. You can thread it through the corkscrew turns of a mountain road, and enjoy yourself.

There's no sloppy play in the steering. No mushiness. When you hold the wheel, you "feel" the road. When you turn the wheel, the car responds instantly. Suddenly, you are a more confident driver.

Heroic stopping power

Stopping? Unless you have driven a 180-mph Grand Prix racing car or a Mercedes-Benz, chances are you have never experienced the security that comes from having really good brakes.

A few domestic sedans have front-wheel disc brakes, and others offer front-wheel discs as an option. But every Mercedes-Benz comes with massive disc brakes on all four wheels.

Standard.

Result: You get more stopping power than you may ever need. But you sleep better at night.

The pinnacle of safety

As for safety, Mercedes-Benz engineers applaud the intent of the U.S. Government regulations, and carry their protective measures beyond the letter of these laws.

The 250's best defense against blundering drivers is, of course, its almost uncanny evasive ability. But, if the worst happens, your Mercedes-Benz is designed to shield you.

The entire passenger compartment is built as a sturdy "safety zone." Doors are designed to stay closed on impact. The front and rear sections of the car are engineered to crumple in a violent crash at a controlled rate, absorbing shock and reducing the threat of serious injury.

Car and Driver's sober conclusion: Of all the world's motor cars, the current Mercedes-Benz line "represents the present pinnacle in safe car engineering."

Value. All of it concealed from the casual eye. But there.

And there's more. Construction of every Mercedes-Benz begins in a shower of sparks.

Where conventional cars use bolts to tie body and chassis together, Mercedes-Benz uses thousands of welds to create a single unit of immense strength. After 50,000 miles or so, you may begin to wonder if your 250 will ever rattle.

When welding stops, the raw body is dunked whole, like a taffy apple, into a gigantic vat of primer. It emerges with 24 pounds of rust protection.

More hidden value

Every car gets 20 more pounds of primer and paint. Even the insides of the hub caps are coated. As a final flourish in its armament against corrosion, each car gets a 24-pound factory slathering of undercoating.

The six-cylinder, overhead-cam engine of every 250 is bench tested before installation, for more than 60 minutes. A hint of trouble in this grueling test and the engine is torn down and rebuilt. Mercedes-Benz finds the lemons—not you.

Revealing showroom tests

Run a finger along the body of the 250. No "orange-peel" texture. Slide in and open the glove compartment. Fully trimmed. Close the car door. Ka-chunk.

Now flex your back. This is no marshmallow seat. It supports you, mile after mile. It should: it was designed with the guidance of orthopedic physicians.

Crank the window and fiddle with some knobs. "Everything worked with delightful precision, eliciting the same sort of satisfaction that comes when the shutter mechanism crackles shut on a good reflex camera," reported Car and Driver's expert.

That's the beauty of the 250. It's built as if it were a 3,000-pound Hasselblad camera!

An unconventional car? Definitely so. Mercedes-Benz does not make conventional cars—and never will.

24-page brochure

If you'd like more facts on this remarkable $5,299* machine, mail the coupon for a full-color brochure.

Of course, the quickest way to verify the 250's virtues, both visible and invisible, is simply to drop by the showroom and arrange a test drive.

Other models to ponder:
280S Sedan—the most road-worthy car you can buy in the luxury class, $6,249*.

280SL Roadster—a sports car for grown-ups, combines soul-stirring performance with comfort, $6,885*.

220 Diesel—the only diesel-powered automobile Mercedes-Benz makes, gives you small-car economy in a big, safe sedan that may well endure for decades, $4,780*.

300SEL—an understated limousine, $9,849*.

Bagley Proposes Tax On Utilities

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to impose an excise tax on government-owned electric and gas utilities has been introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The tax would produce $50 million annually, based on 1968 figures, Bagley estimated.

He said the proposed tax "would eliminate the discriminatory tax exemption now enjoyed by these nontaxpaying utility businesses in California, and equalize the utility tax burden among customers of investor-owned and government-owned systems."

The revenue would help meet local governments' "dire need" for more tax revenue, Bagley said.

Probe Asked For Secret Oil Meetings

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The California Freedom of Information Committee has called for a congressional inquiry into meetings of a presidential advisory panel studying the Santa Barbara oil spill.

Committee Chairman Richard H. Fogel made the request Saturday in a letter to Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., chairman of the House subcommittee on government information.

"This is not a public versus private power issue," Bagley said. "It is a question of tax fairness and tax equity for all California homeowners and businesses."

Fogel charged that the panel studying the January oil leak had met secretly in February and in May "in possible violation of rules that govern withholding public information."

Results of the February meeting were never made public.

The session held May 12 and 13 in Inglewood ended with the group's proposal that more wells be drilled in order to more quickly drain the entire Repetto Basin of oil "to prevent future spillage."

The problem developed last Jan. 29 when an undersea well in the Santa Barbara Channel began leaking millions of gallons of crude oil from the Repetto Reservoir into the surrounding channel, fouling beaches and endangering the ecology of the area.

Mental Hospital Hiring Bill Penned By Bagley

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, yesterday said he plans to introduce emergency legislation aimed at providing more ward-level care for mentally retarded children at Sonoma State Hospital.

Bagley said he would seek to have the Department of Mental Hygiene directed to establish a priority for more ward workers ahead of additional psychoanalysts and psychiatrists.

The assemblyman said "... the hospital is not organized in a manner competent to meet the needs of the mentally retarded."

The legislator said his action was prompted by charges leveled at the hospital by Thomas J. Farrell, who resigned in protest from the hospital board of trustees. A spokesman for Bagley said one of his aides visited

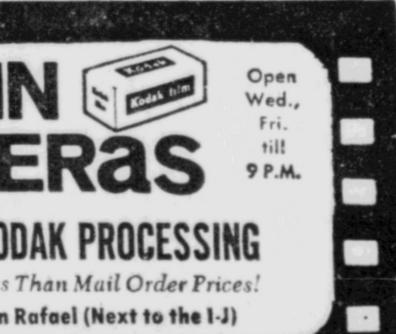

Social Security For Home Work

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Housewives who pay someone $50 or more for household services during any three-month calendar quarter must report these payments and pay Social Security taxes to the Internal Revenue Service, J. M. Cullen, district director, announced today.

Social Security tax on household wages — such as for the hiring of a maid, cleaning woman, housekeeper or gardener — is 4.8 per cent for employer and employee. When the quarterly tax form is filed, Cullen said, a check or money order representing 9.6 per cent of the cash wages reported for the period should be included with the return.

Tax forms may be obtained from Internal Revenue Offices.

Car Interior Shabby? Sam will "Give it a Go"

If your car's interior is looking a bit shabby, you can spruce it up by giving Sam Busschaert, owner of Sam's Auto Glass & Upholstery, Phone 454-8300, 1216 Third Street, San Rafael, "a go" at it.

Sam's specialty is auto glass, upholstery, convertible tops, seat covers, and related services.

Much of Sam's work comes from insurance companies for glass replacement and repairing ripped or burned upholstery. The fact that insurance companies turn to him is an endorsement of the quality of work done here. Quality work at reasonable prices is his business creed.

Car interiors frequently take a beating. Sam has the stock or the resources to match practically any kind of upholstering for either making a repair or redoing whole sections. Top liners and carpeting are installed here.

Convertible top replacement or repair is one of the shop's specialties. The shop also carries a large assortment of seat covers which are carefully fitted by experts.

Federal Credit Asked For State Taxpayers

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — U.S. Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., said today he'd support in the Senate Gov. Ronald Reagan's suggestion state taxpayers get a 1 per cent writeoff on their federal income tax to offset education taxes they pay.

In remarks prepared for a talk to the Comstock Club here, Murphy disclosed he will "soon introduce legislation which will allow a direct credit of up to 1 per cent of the taxpayers' federal income for money that he pays to the state for education."

At the same time, he said, he would ask for a Senate study of Reagan's proposal allowing a 1 per cent federal tax deduction for the 1 per cent "educational opportunities" tax the Republican governor proposes to add across-the-board to the present income tax rates.

However, Reagan's bill for an added flat 1 per cent levy for needed, unbearable burdens on its taxpayers.

"By eliminating the federal middleman, it will increase the available potential use of tax dollars by 30 per cent or even more."

Murphy noted he earlier had introduced "a broad-base tax sharing proposal" now before the Senate Finance Committee.

FLAG AND SABER — Michael J. Dunsing holds a German officer's saber while examining a Nazi flag, both items having been brought back from Germany after World War II by Dunsing's late uncle. Dunsing is the fourth generation in his family to join the military. (Independent-Journal photo by Roger Bockrath)

GUNS AT FOUR

Corte Madera Youth Enlists In Army: A Family Tradition

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Michael J. Dunsing, who held his first real gun when he was four, will enter the Army July 30 and become the fourth generation of his family to enlist in the armed forces.

"This is just handed down from father to son," the handsome, 19-year-old Corte Madera explained.

"I picked up my first gun when I was four and started hunting with my father at 8. He taught me all I know about firearms and safe hunting," said the youth.

Dunsing, who lives with his father Gerald G. Dunsing and grandmother, Mary H. Black, at 2 Morning Star Court, completed high school at St. Ignatius in San Francisco, then attended College of Marin one semester but didn't like it.

"It was mainly because of the people and a conflict of ideals," Dunsing said.

He took Reserve Officer Training Corps at the University of San Francisco during the past year and now works occasionally as a dishwasher at Marin Joe's.

Dunsing acknowledged that most of the people he has associated with have been with the military. One of his best friends, Michael Maher, also of Corte Madera, is the son of a retired officer, and Maher plans to enter the service when he is old enough.

In addition to his father, grandfather and great grandfather's service, Dunsing had three great great uncles, all of whom enlisted as drummers. No one in the family lost his life in war, he said.

Dunsing's father, now in the wholesale distribution business, served in World War II in the 205th Coast Artillery, San Francisco, from 1940 to 1941 and then taught in the 104th Infantry Division, Camp Adair, Ore. for one year.

Dunsing's grandfather was a chief plotter for the First Coast Artillery at Fort Miley and served in the Spanish American War in the Philippines, in the Philippine Insurrection and the Boxer Rebellion.

Entering the Army at 13 as a drummer boy, Dunsing's great grandfather was with the 2nd U.S. Cavalry, rose to sergeant major and retired at 64. He was on the side of the Union in the Civil War, fought against the Sioux, Blackfoot and Apaches in the Indian Wars and was in the Spanish American war in Cuba.

Dunsing has a collection of rifles on his bedroom wall, and the family has a box of war mementos from his late uncle which includes a hand grenade, Japanese war helmet and a large Nazi flag which Michael's uncle tore from a podium in Germany in World War II and replaced with the American flag.

In high school Dunsing selected the Civil War to study because it was so tragic, he said. "I wanted to find out about it, study the battles, find out what went wrong."

Dunsing, an only child, related that he wouldn't be going into the service if he didn't think the U.S. was justified in being in Vietnam.

"As long as I'm going to be in the service I have to be associated with what they are doing. . . . I'm all for peace but I'm not all for pulling out right away and letting another dominating nation try to put down a smaller country and run it the way they see fit and not the way the residents see fit."

Inverness Prepares Music Fete

The Inverness Music Festival's fifth annual summer concert series will be presented Aug. 15, 16 and 17 at St. Columba's Church and adjoining outdoor amphitheater.

Major presentations will be Mascagni's opera "Cavalleria Rusticana" performed Saturday and Sunday afternoons in the amphitheater and Mozart's comic opera "The Impresario" on Sunday night.

The festival will open Friday night with program of Elizabethan music performed by Tom Buchner and Jo Bacon, and harpsichordist Margaret Fabrizio will be heard in a solo recital Saturday night.

"Cavalleria Rusticana," conducted from the piano by festival director Fae McNally, will have Sicilian village scenery designed by Nancy Blunk. The cast includes Mildred Owen, James Eltze, Richard Wagner, Florence Bierman and Arlene White, with a festival chorus. Sam Shaffer is stage director.

The Mozart opera, directed by Darrell Parker and staged by Joe Rodgers, features singers Joan Smith, Elizabeth Heffernan, Bob Grant and Kenneth McClellan. Accompanying will be an orchestra composed of Ruggiero Pelosi, Donna Salaro, Lucien Mitchell, Jean Mitchell, Donald Prell, Nancy L. Bennett and Mark Isham.

Because of limited seating, programs in the church are open to series ticket holders only. They may be obtained at Inverness Music Festival, Box 2, Inverness, Calif., 94935, or Sherman Clay, San Rafael.

Dunsing hopes to enter the airborne infantry, then go into special services and hopes to wind up specializing in weapons and demolitions. He hopes, too, to go to Officers Candidates School and make the Army a career.

Fond of deer hunting, Dunsing said he will probably miss the season this fall. He is to report at 6:30 a.m. July 30 at the Oakland Induction Center.

Marcelle B. Rogers of 59 Hill Street told police someone took a leopard skin rug, valued at $60, from her home between 1 p.m. yesterday and 1 a.m. today.

JAMES BUMP of Petaluma operates a dipping machine which turns out 320 dozen dinner candles on each of two wheels at the Lenox Candle factory in San Rafael. Beginning with bare wicks, the candles are dipped repeatedly into a vat of hot wax until the correct size is reached. The process takes approximately two hours and is followed by dipping the candles twice into a color bath after they have been trimmed and the bottom end shaped.

SOMETHING DIFFERENT

Sights And Sounds Of 'Home' Country

By GRACE HENDERSON

Where can a Marin or southern Sonoma county family go for a mini-vacation, a one-day trip, or even for a few hours? Or where can a group of women, a Boy Scout troop or school children go to learn more about California? How can an organization program chairman include something different in the coming club season's programs?

Hopefully, the Independent Journal has an answer or at least a stimulus toward finding that different program topic or challenging tour. There are many points of interest in both Marin and Sonoma counties. With a little imagination the list could be expanded and include several hundred interesting spots to see.

Beginning with a tour of a candle factory and ranging through historical monuments, missions, parks, commercial enterprises and others, a partial list has been compiled for the reader's information.

First, a factory in San Rafael.

"A CANDLE is a simple thing — a chunk of wax, a bit of string."

Yes, a candle is a simple thing. But the piece of wax, the string and mold are intricate parts to a beautiful complement to a room, a dining table, a patio, holiday decorations or wherever the flattering light of a candle is desired.

To see how candles are made, a tour was taken of the Lenox Candle Inc. factory at 460 Du Bois Street in San Rafael. There, in 40,000 square feet of space, 30 employees turn out 20 cases of candles each day. They vary in size and shape.

What does a visitor see at such a plant? He sees how candles are made in plastic molds; machines that insert wicks; the dicing of Paraffin (a registered trademark with the company); and the coffee-warmer candles that play follow the leader in circles under a machine that inserts a wick and clamps a wire holder on the bottom, all in one operation.

TWO GIANT wheels hold 320 dozen wicks each and, as they rotate, are dipped into a vat of hot wax. These are the dinner candles beginning with white centers and ending with two dippings into a color.

So, from the wicks hanging like string mops out to dry, beautiful dinner candles are formed as the wheels turn slowly. The wax is piped in from two outside tanks, each holding 50,000 pounds of the raw material.

When both wheels have completed two hours of constant dipping, 640 dozen dinner candles are ready for the next step, the double-dipping for color.

From the manufacturing area, candles travel to the wrapping room where dinner candles are wrapped individually by machine and boxed for shipment.

THE TOUR takes between 45 minutes and one hour, with the public invited. A maximum number of 15 can be accommodated at one time but if interested groups contact the company in advance, arrangements can be made for larger groups. The minimum number for a group tour is five persons; hours are 10:15 a.m. to noon, five days a week.

Paul Miller is the new general manager of Lenox Candles Inc., San Rafael Division, and will arrange tours; or Mary Peagant, his secretary, can provide information.

The candle wheels at the Lenox Company are not the only candle wheels in the vicinity available for observation. A room at the Petaluma Adobe State Historical Monument holds just such a wheel, complete with partially dipped candles.

It is only one room of many in the old structure, another in a list of interesting places to visit.

LOCATED three miles east of Petaluma, the monument (Rancho Petaluma) marks the largest adobe structure to be built in northern California. It was General Vallejo's old adobe ranchhouse, built in 1836, and served as the hub of the general's far-flung agricultural enterprises.

The present structure, renovated from the deteriorating original, was attained by the California Division of Beaches and Parks in 1951 and is one-half of the original complex.

Petaluma Adobe

The two stories have been restored to illustrate the original usage of the various rooms and apartments. The candle-making room is one, a kitchen another. A large area, both indoors and on the wide veranda, shows the importance of weaving cloth and making garments in the self-sufficient compound. It was here many spinning wheels and looms were worked by the women.

The wide-roofed verandas also afforded protection for the adobe walls; all emphasize typical living in a Mexican colony.

MORE THAN 2,000 Indians labored on the 100 square mile holdings. They worked as plowmen, harvesters, herders, domestic servants, weavers, tanners, and at various other trades. Most of them lived in their own villages on the rancho; others hired by Vallejo to construct and operate the enterprise were kanakas from Hawaii, Mexican colonists, and American emigrants.

Groups may be guided, by appointment, or visitors may stroll as they wish. The Adobe is open seven days a week, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. during daylight saving time and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. during standard time. More than 50,000 visitors tour the grounds annually, but the spacious area and large structure are never crowded. There is a 25 cent admission fee; the ticket being good at several nearby state parks if used the same day as purchased.

An hour of touring could be a most enjoyable experience for a cool morning, followed by lunch at the well-kept picnic area (no fires please), or a short drive would take the visitor to Sonoma, the beginning of more adventure.

SONOMA VALLEY, the "Valley of the Moon," made famous by author Jack London, a former resident, is surrounded by various historical points.

The Buena Vista Ranch, one mile northeast of town, is a state historical landmark. The oldest stone wine cellar in the state and the largest eucalyptus tree are here.

Seven flags have flown over Sonoma County and great nations have explored and laid claim to its lands and attractions, leaving reminders and monuments of people and events.

CALIFORNIA STATE Historical landmarks within Sonoma County lines include San Francisco Solano Mission, the last and northernmost of the 21 missions established in the state during the Spanish period; the Vallejo Home in Sonoma, built in 1851; Fort Ross, on the coast 14 miles north of Jenner, built by Russian sea otter hunters in 1812-1841; and the Bear Flag Monument in Sonoma, which commemorates the raising of the original Bear Flag in the brief Bear Flag Republic of 1846.

Also Blue Wing Inn, in Sonoma, one of the oldest hotels north of the San Francisco Bay; Luther Burbank Memorial Gardens in Santa Rosa, where the famous naturalist engaged in research and experimentation, noted for its beautiful flowers and fountains; Sonoma Barracks, in Sonoma, built in 1835, and where General Vallejo billeted his Spanish and Mexican troops; Salvadore Vallejo Adobe in Sonoma was built by Indian labor in 1836-1846 and was occupied by the brother of General Vallejo. This was also the location of Cumberland College from 1858 to 1864.

And Samuel Sebastiani Winery in Sonoma was founded in 1904 and was the home of the first vineyard in the Valley, planted in 1825; and Nash Adobe, Union Hotel and Swiss Hotel are all famous landmarks in Sonoma.

ELIZABETH MERLA of Terra Linda punches holes in the tops of column candles (the name has been changed from "prism"). More wax will be poured into the holes to compensate for shrinkage as the wax cools. There are 30 persons employed at the local plant which merged with the Lenox Company this spring.

MRS. WERNER HELLWIG of Novato fills the base of candles where wicks have been inserted. Column candles are molded into 12-inch lengths and cut for the three, six and nine-inch sizes. The public is invited to tour the facilities at 460 Du Bois Street; large groups should make an appointment.

MIKE EVANS of San Rafael lines up dinner candles preparing to put them through the machine that cuts them off evenly and tapers the bottom ends to fit in candle holders.

Other candles produced locally include columns, coffee warmers and a variety of decorated candles. The coffee warmer candles come in a number of fragrances, and all kinds use a wide range of colors.

THE END of an assembly line process, this Della Robbia column stands about 30 inches tall and sells for approximately $50. The gilded wooden base is trimmed with French metallic ribbon and the column is emphasized with bows and leaves of gilded wax. Most orders are for the smaller, more versatile candles but the unusual candles are popular for special occasions. (Independent-Journal photos by Roger Bockrath)

HELEN HELP US!

Second-Time Bride Ponders Reasoning On Etiquette Rules

DEAR HELEN: Since when? I mean this "etiquette decries" business.

I was married young and very briefly. We lived together for one stormy year and I didn't even have a memory of a lovely wedding, as we ran away, though it wasn't a have-to thing.

So now I've met the man I should have met first. We both want a wedding to remember, and that means in our case, a rather big one, as we have many friends.

Yet "they say" a woman's second wedding must be small, with no veil worn, and nothing elaborate.

Who says a girl can't wear a veil or have orange blossoms if she isn't a virgin? Who says she can't have the wedding of her dreams just because she made a terrible mistake with one man? For that matter, what's the sense really in two envelopes for the announcement or invitation? One would do.

It seems that etiquette has decreed some pretty senseless rules and it's about time we broke them. —SECOND BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: Antiquated etiquette "rules" will never be broken unless someone makes a start. How about you? —H.

DEAR HELEN: I have just learned my daughter, aged 26, is a sex deviate. There's no way to change her, no way to undo what perhaps I did to cause it. All I want to know is how do I act when she is home? —ASHAMED.

DEAR ASHAMED: Act "as you were," and expect your daughter to act the same. What we can't change in life, we must learn to ignore. —H.

DEAR HELEN: I learned these points the hard way. Maybe if you print them, they will help some other woman who is wondering, "What has happened to my marriage?"

Stratton Pierce of Los Angeles was best man for his brother-in-law, and Al Froese of San Rafael ushered.

A reception in the church parish hall followed the ceremony. The couple are on a wedding trip backpacking in the High Sierra. They will live in San Francisco, where both are employed by Crocker Citizens Bank.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman K. Reinhard of San Rafael are the bridegroom's parents. His schools are San Rafael High School, College of Marin and Shimek College in Mount Carmel, Ill. His sisters are Mrs. Stratton Pierce and Ginger Reinhard.

Sissel attended high school in Oslo, Norway. She is the sister of Mrs. Kaare Lysne of Slepden, Norway, and Arne and Tron Overgaard, both of Sandvika.

half-hour early so that you can have his breakfast on when he awakens.

2. A good morning kiss will get him out of bed in much better spirits than a loud-ring alarm.

3. Don't make a big issue of it when he wants to skim through the morning paper.

4. Don't dump your problems on him immediately after he returns home, or he'll dread walking in the door. He needs a restful haven after a hard day — and he listens better after dinner!

5. Don't nag him if he has a particular sport, or enjoys TV sports. Remember that being a "golf widow" is better than having to join A1-Anon, or wait until 5 a.m. for a playboy husband! —HAPPY WIFE.

DEAR WIFE:

Your points are well taken — or should be — by all wives.

Now, let's hear it from the husbands. You happily married men out there: Tell us how you manage it! —H.

DEAR HELEN:

"Engaged to a Lovable Nut" need not worry about his "nut." God has always taken care of "fools and idiots," or so many would not survive freeways, mix-masters and drunken driving. He especially takes care of His good Samaritans. She won't be mugged by those she tries to help. She'll walk safely.

'One Small Step...A Giant Leap For Mankind'

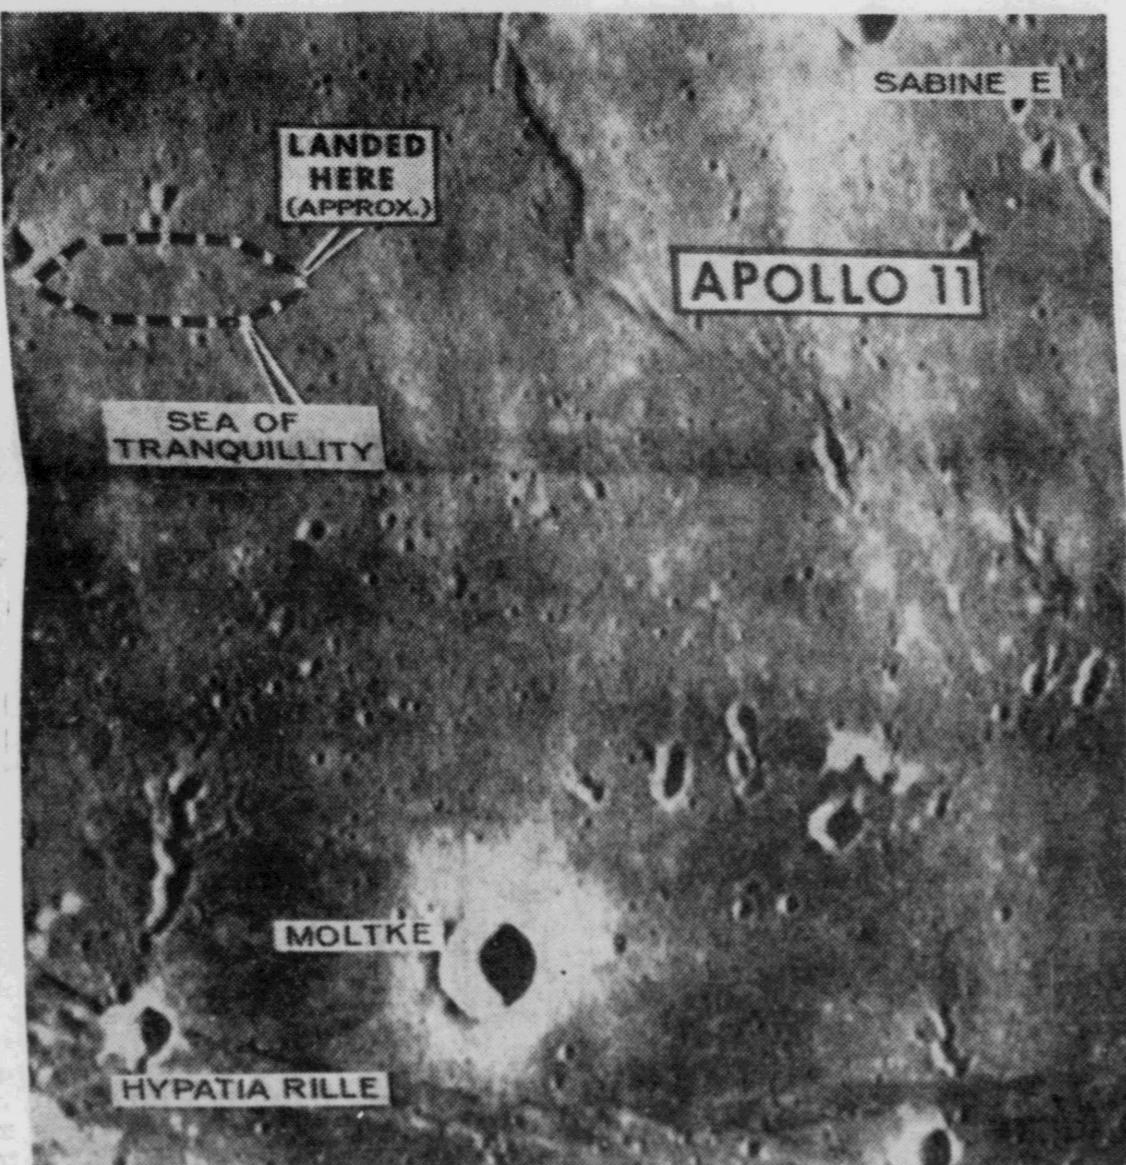

THE GREAT STEP — Realizing a dream held by Man ever since he looked skyward. Apollo 11 commander Neil Armstrong looks directly into television camera as he became the first man ever to set foot on the moon. As millions of watchers back on earth strained their eyes and ears yesterday, he climbed down the Lunar Module ladder and declared: "That's one small step for man, a giant leap for mankind."

PLANTING THE COLORS — Astronauts Neil Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. place a plastic United States flag on the lunar surface shortly after their historic first steps on the moon. They had already placed some distance away the television camera which relayed hours of drama back to watchers on earth. But while the picture traveled more than a quarter-million miles to earth, only about 60 miles above the moon, Apollo 11's third crewman, Michael Collins, could only listen and wait, anxiously peering through his cabin window to try to spot the Eagle below.

WHERE THEY LANDED — Following Armstrong's manual takeover of the Eagle lunar lander's controls at the last minute, the astronauts set their craft down on the very edge of the target area—thereby escaping having to land on what Armstrong described as a football field-sized crater full of boulders.

NEIL ARMSTRONG
First man on moon

SECOND MOON-MAN — Aldrin, after first sedately stepping off the ladder, tests the moon's light gravity by leaping ballet-like back up the ladder. Throughout the activity outside the lunar lander last night, Aldrin, even more than Armstrong, seemed fascinated with the physical sensations of moving in a dusty world with one-sixth the earth's gravitational pull.

LONGEST-DISTANCE CALL EVER — Speaking from the Oval Room of the White House, President Richard M. Nixon proudly conversed with the two astronauts during their stay on the moon — and Armstrong and Aldrin in their bulky spacesuits manage to render salutes. "Because of what you've done, the heavens have become part of man's world," Nixon declared.

IN ANOTHER WORLD — United States GIs take a few minutes out from the war in Vietnam to watch the moon adventure on television. Left to right are Pfc. Theodore Martin of Bluefield, W. Va.; Pfc. Lloyd J. Bell of Baton Rouge, La.; and Pfc. Steven Spurlock of San Diego.

WAREHOUSE BLAZE — Firemen struggle to put out a blaze which destroyed a storage building in Forest Knolls early today. A truck trailer filled with newly folded cartons parked nearby escaped with singed tires. This and two other fires last night and this morning in the town were termed the work of an arsonist by Marin County Fire Chief Louis Bloom. (Independent-Journal photos by Jim Kean)

Forest Knolls Fires Blamed On Arsonists; $10,600 Damage

Three fires last night and early today in Forest Knolls were the work of an arsonist Marin County Fire Chief Louis Bloom said today.

Law officers were investigating the blazes today, which took place at an ice house and a warehouse, which was burned to the ground.

The possibility that the fires were connected with continuing rumbles in the little town between various factions of newcomers was mentioned by deputies, who were checking for fingerprints today.

Chief Bloom said firemen were called on the ice house off Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at 10:49 p.m. to put out a blaze which caused $300 worth of damage. The fire was extinguished within 10 minutes.

At 12:10 a.m. another fire broke out in the same building and was again put out almost immediately with another $300 damage. Bloom said his men found a bottle of gasoline which had been tossed inside the ice house and rubber tire under the building.

Outside the building the men discovered a glass containing a Scotch highball from which officers were attempting to obtain fingerprints today.

Then at 1:50 a.m. the biggest of the blazes engulfed a nearby building which has been used as a storage place. The $10,000 structure was totally in flames when firemen arrived, said Bloom.

The onestory building, formerly a garage, belonged to Mrs. R. D. Roberts of Woodacre and was being leased by Leslie Stone of Forest Knolls, Bloom said. The building was empty, however, as it was in the process of being sold.

Chief Bloom said that nearby houses were never in danger, but tires were singed on a Pacific Motor Transport truck trailer parked nearby.

The truck drivers escaped with minor injuries today when their rig ripped out 93 feet of concrete railing on Richardson Bay Bridge, then teetered precariously on the edge until a tow truck pulled it to safety.

Driver Bruce M. Miller, 40, of Fort Bragg, told the California Highway Patrol he missed a downshift on the big fish truck as he reached the bridge at 1:25 a.m., and the tractor-trailer drifted into the rail as he concentrated on shifting. The wheels were torn from the tractor and the trailer jackknifed into the rail, then stopped dangling halfway out over the water.

Miller had scrapes on the forehead and one wrist. His co-driver, Kenneth Hopkins, 21, of San Francisco, had a bump on the head and scrapes on one hand and one knee. Neither required hospital treatment.

A temporary wooden railing was put up in place of the concrete rail, and San Francisco-bound traffic on Highway 101 slowed this morning as drivers passed the accident site.

It was the first known case of rabies in Marin County this year, she said.

The steer showed signs of extreme nervousness and at one point chased away its owner on the ranch near Pierce Point Road before it died last week. Dr. Albrecht withheld the rancher's name.

She said the incident indicated there were either skunks or foxes with rabies in the area. She urged dog owners to have their pets vaccinated against the disease.

Tiburon Man Found Dead In Hotel Room

William Ronald Allard III, 39, of Tiburon, was found dead at 7:11 a.m. Saturday in his room at the Governor Hotel in San Francisco from a possible overdose of sleeping pills, reported the San Francisco coroner's office.

Sleeping pills and two notes were also found in the room, the coroner said. An autopsy report was pending.

Born in Pontiac, Mich., Allard had lived in Marin County for the past 21 years, most recently at 687 Hilary Drive.

He was a graduate of San Francisco State College and was unemployed at the time of his death.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Allard Jr. of Tiburon and a sister, Mrs. Peter McDonough of Massachusetts.

Funeral will be at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at Russell and Goch Funeral Chapels in Mill Valley. Burial will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. Friends may call at the chapels after 9 a.m. tomorrow.

A Memorial Mass will be offered at 10 a.m. Aug. 2 at St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon.

An antenna system which beamed back transmissions by astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. during their historic walk on the moon yesterday contained a diode system made in Marin County.

The antenna apparatus was part of more than $1 million in equipment left behind on the dusty moon surface as the Apollo 11 crewmen reunited in space today for the journey home.

The diodes were made by workers at Fairchild Semiconductor, a division of Fairchild Camera and Instrument Corp., 4300 Redwood Highway, San Rafael, under a subcontract from the Daimler-Benz Co. of Belmont.

Daimler-Benz constructed the antenna system.

Diodes act like a gate or a water system valve to control the flow of electricity, a Fairchild spokesman explained.

Marin Chairmen Picked In Fight For Tax Control

Two women have been named as Marin County co-chairmen of a campaign to qualify an initiative measure to retain voter control of school tax rate ceilings.

Appointment of Mrs. Sally Ryan of 715 Las Colinas Road, Terra Linda, and Mrs. John S. Morton of 15 Bay Vista Drive, Tiburon, was announced today by Ronald J. Kennedy of Pen-ryn, Placer County, organizer of the initiative movement.

The campaign seeks sufficient signatures to qualify for the June, 1970, primary a measure repealing that portion of the Urban Education Act of 1967 which removes voter control on school tax rates as of 1971. The initial 90-day period to circulate petitions began June 18, according to Kennedy. A total of 325,173 signatures is required.

Bills to postpone or repeal removal of the voter controls are still alive in the state legislature.

Police said they investigated after receiving a tip that a 14-year-old boy was making firecrackers and explosives in the playhouse in the Elena Circle section of the Terra Linda area of San Rafael — and officers believe there may be similar hoards throughout the area.

The boy, who turned the chemicals over to police, said he had been ordering them through magazines.

Juvenile Inspector Gerald R. Green said the chemicals confiscated were sufficient to do a large amount of damage.

He also warned parents in the area of the possible danger to their children.

SONOMA STATE BUDGET HIT

Loans To Student Officers Challenged

In Probe Into Student Allocations

The Sonoma State College athletic director charged today that a cut in his department's budget by the student board of directors is a blow against "the last vestige of the establishment."

Director G. Edward Rudloff said the budget cut may doom his program which includes the college's first attempt at inter-collegiate football.

While cutting the athletic department budget, the officers attempted Thursday to issue themselves four $500 interest-free loans. Those loans were today ruled illegal by James B. Enochs, vice president for academic affairs.

"I told Gillette the personal loans would not be possible," he said, referring to James G. Gillette, student body president.

Dr. Enochs, who is reviewing the budget in the absence of vacating President Ambrose R. Nichols Jr., said he would rule on the entire budget tomorrow.

Under the loan plan, President Gillette, Treasurer Thomas Rollins, Vice President Gregory Jilka and Officer Irwin T. Moore would receive the $500 emergency loans for a 90-day period at no interest.

The Associated Students charter permits the allocation of funds for student loans, but they must be processed through the college financial aids office, Dr. Enochs said.

Also of concern is the budget cut for inter-collegiate sports from $11,700 this year to $10,000. Rudloff has requested a grant of $16,000 from the students.

"I told the students that if the proposed budget is approved, there will be only two other alternatives," Rudloff said. "Either we drop the inter-collegiate athletic program or find another source of funds."

Rudloff's increased budget request was for the college's budget in inter-collegiate football complete by the end of the week.

The councilmen met July 7 in an unannounced meeting to choose a successor to George C. Hoffman, who resigned in June. At last Tuesday's council meeting, they named Wyman Hicks, a Sonoma State College professor, to the post.

According to the Brown Act, official bodies must give 24 hours notice of closed meetings to news media which have requested it. The Independent-Journal requested such notice in a letter written in 1967. Violation of the Brown Act is a misdemeanor.

Hospital Cafeteria Alterations Bids Open

Bids for alterations to the cafeteria food service facilities at Marin General Hospital will be opened at a meeting of the Marin Hospital District board at 7 p.m. tomorrow.

The change will mean closing down the coffee shop and altering the cafeteria so that, when finished, it will be open seven days a week.

Man's Age-Old Dream Comes True At Last

They walked upon the moon. They bounded upon it, kangaroo-hopped upon it. They took pictures of it, planted the American flag on it, scooped up spadefuls of its dusty brown-gray surface. And we, in the comfort of our own homes, watched Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin through the magic of television, and heard their conversation through the miracle of radio.

They will be heading back as this is read, if all goes well — hurtling through space at a tremendous rate toward the planet which has been, since before the beginning of recorded time, the only home of man. They are the first men to land on the moon, the first to return from it to Earth.

THEIR ACCOMPLISHMENT defies explanation, beggars comparison, transcends the superlative. In our houses of wood and plaster and brick, amid the familiar climate and atmosphere of our earthly home, we have watched as these two young Americans moved about in an entirely different atmosphere and climate, on a surface that we see only as a glowing orb in the heavens (it was in the "last quarter" when Armstrong and Aldrin put down on it in the Apollo 11 capsule).

Twenty-two billion dollars have gone into the venture — the orbiting of the earth in man-made satellites, the escape beyond its pull of gravity, the probe of the heavens by vehicles unmanned and then manned — and now this, the landing on the moon.

WE GLOW with national pride because we beat the Russians in a race in which it long ago appeared they had the edge. It is the Stars and Stripes

The Mutilated Poem

Thoreau, writing in his "Journal" over a hundred years ago, had these thoughts about what man was doing to Nature in his small corner of Massachusetts. These same thoughts seem many times more applicable to the Marin scene today, where Nature is under continual siege from mutilators, innocent thought they may be:

"I take infinite pains to know all the phenomena of the spring, for instance,

'Never-Say-Die' Assemblyman Pushes U.C. Tuition Measure

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) —

When they start giving out the "never-say-die" medals, probably the first one should go to Assemblyman John L. E. (Bud) Collier, R-Los Angeles, as this Southern California law-maker has achieved what everybody long ago gave up as a lost cause.

It was back in 1963 when "Bud" first introduced what then was a "radical" education bill in the assembly. It provided for an unheard-of plan for tuition in the University of California on what came to be known as a "learn, earn and reimburse" method of providing a university education for students who could not afford college.

BUT COLLIER was undaunted by the general rejection of the plan, and each legislative session thereafter, he continued to introduce the same bill, and up to this year, with the same results.

He spent many hours explaining the merits of the measure to fellow legislators, to the press and to representatives of the educational fraternity. Discouraged at the end of the sessions since 1963, he nevertheless hung on with the tenacity for which he is noted, and with a never-lessening faith in the merits of his measure.

IN THOSE days, almost any mention of tuition was sacrilege. Collier's bill, needless to say, never came out the door of the assembly education committee, which was under the thumb of the higher education lobbyists.

COLLIER was un-

daunted by the general rejection of the plan, and each leg-

But still Collier won't quit.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Strong Leash Law Should Be Enforced

A week or so ago you printed a short item on the new leash law in San Rafael in one of the center pages.

As this law will go into effect, and I hope enforced, I hope you will again run the law on the front page and in big print.

I am a great lover of dogs as are my neighbors who own animals. I walk my dog on a leash several times daily and he is tied at home. Still I have been attacked by dogs not on leashes. One of my neighbors has taken to carrying a four-foot club when he walks his dog. He has been attacked. Another friend has been bitten as she walked her leashed pup.

I am in favor of the law and have written several letters to our city council to obtain such a law. Still I do think it should be published a little more in nice, bold print.

Perhaps some of the owners of animals that run at large will be a little more cautious.

Trusting In God Can Do No Harm

In reply to Mr. MacDonald's letter "Where is proof that God exists?"

Perhaps he feels something like "Who can see the mind? Neither you nor I," but it certainly does not prove it isn't there. Also he could not have lost someone dear to him — to see them still there in body but the soul spark of life spirit, call it what you will, gone.

Proof is necessarily a belief that a trust that spirit has returned to Spirit and so not lost forever. "In God we trust" is all part of American and certainly can do no harm to anyone. Our fathers died for it.

COUNTRY PARSON

In your recent editorial on the causes of closing the overnight use of Mount Tamalpais, you failed to put any blame on the Boy Scouts. In the July 8 issue of your paper, U.S. Commissioner Richard Goldsmith was quoted as saying, "It was largely the actions of some scouts that led to the prohibition of overnight camping on part of Mount Tamalpais."

Goldsmith attempted to get special permits to allow the scouts to camp after the mountain was closed. The Mar-

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By DAVID DIETZ

Drastic Changes Since 1934, Particularly In Budget Cost

County Clerk George Gross approached us the other day waving a little brown book. Lo, it was a copy of the 1934-35 budget requests from county department heads, and Gross flipped to the first page, pointing to the sum sought by the county clerk to run the entire department — $10,755.

"That wouldn't even pay for my election ballots today," Gross said.

So right, George. A check of the fiscal 1970 budget shows this item: "Ballots — sample and official, $30,500."

Budget requests in 1934 covered 34 pages. The 1970 budget is 343 pages. Total requests in 1934 were $1.9 million. The 1969-70 spending program adopted last month by the board of supervisors is $34.3 million.

IF WE COMPARE budgets (tongue in cheek, of course), this picture emerges:

In 1934, the district attorney's proposed salary was $3,200 a year. Today, Bruce Bales receives $2,000 per month. The county assessor in 1934 asked for $25 in convention expenses, while Assessor Bert Broemmel was given $1,304 for this purpose under the new budget. Gas and electricity for the courthouse were expected to cost $1,225 in 1934-35, while the county could spend up to $12,000 alone in 1969-70 to light the Civic Center Administration Building and Hall of Justice.

MARIN'S SHERIFF in 1934 asked for $50 to spend on arms and ammunition. A total of $2,451 was budgeted this fiscal year for ammunition alone.

The proposed budget for the superintendent of schools office 35 years ago totaled $9,502, with an annual salary of $3,200 for the superintendent.

Today's budget is $240,198, of which $1,775 per month is spent on the salary of Virgil Hollis.

Welfare payments (hang on to your sombrero) were projected in 1934-35 at $63,000. The 1969-70 figure: $76,000, of which $2.1 million is borne by the county. Welfare administration (still holding on?) was expected to cost $5,410 then. Now, the sum is $2.5 million, of which the county share is $873,055.

Oh well, the depression was cheaper.

TWO MEN carrying cumbersome boxes were standing outside the supervisors' chambers the other day, explaining with a trace of disgust that the grand jury had subpoenaed them to room 321, which is marked "private" and is nothing more than a place where recording equipment for the board chambers is kept. Oh yes, it also leads to the supervisors' lavatory.

We told the witnesses that the subpoena must have meant to say room 421, where the grand jury normally meets, or at least that's where we thought it met. Anyway, the men picked up their boxes with a grunt and set off for room 421, which incidentally is the office of the farm and home advisor.

But we found out later that the subpoena was right, or nearly so. It should have said room 322, which is the board chambers. The grand jury was meeting there that day. Normally it meets in room 426, which is what we meant to tell the men in the first place.

Marin Men To Head Fund Drive

Two Marin men have been named as chairmen of the 1969 United Bay Area Crusade Campaign, it was announced today.

Novato City Mgr. Charles A. Brown has been appointed Marin County chairman of the campaign's county and local government employees. He in turn named three sub-chairmen, Bruce D. Bajema, county employees; Kent B. Bathurst, municipalities, and Franklin Buscher, special districts.

Donald F. McLaughlin of Terra Linda, assistant vice president-public relations of Pacific Telephone Co., was named community relations cabinet chairman for the campaign.

The annual appeal opens in September.

Catholics, accounting for about one-third of the 1.5 million population of Ireland, claim the predominantly English and Scots Protestant majority discriminates against them in jobs and housing.

Giant Jets Will Mean End Of Sea And Rail Transportation

About 66 years ago at Kitty Hawk, N.C., Orville Wright made his first flight — 120 feet at an estimated 12 miles per hour.

Today, the Boeing 747, currently being tested in preparation for delivery to the airlines, is the direct descendant of the Wright brothers' rickety contraption. Although the Boeing 747 makes the Boeing 707 and the Douglas "Stretch" DC-8 appear to be cases of arrested development, it isn't the last of the line of ever growing aero-giants.

Looming now on the horizon is Lockheed's C-5. So far, not much has appeared about it in public print. How can I describe it for you? First, let me say that its length is 236 feet — almost twice as long as Orville's first flight!

Fully loaded the C-5 weighs 720,000 pounds — Orville's aircraft weighed 900 pounds, including Orville. The main cabin of the C-5 is large enough for eight bowling alleys; the height of 20 feet is just about right for a duplex apartment — or you could use it as a garage to hold six Greyhound buses.

THIS JUMBO-JET was originally designed for the U.S. Air Force to provide "increased flexibility of the military" which is another way of saying that the C-5 can airlift about 100 combat-ready troops to any part of the globe within hours.

The C-5 shines its brightest, however, in its ability to carry cargo. Its engineers designed it with front and rear loading doors and with a capacity of 150 tons!

Figures can be impressive indeed, but they don't tell the full story, any more than the full story of the Wright brothers' first flight is told by describing its length and cruising speed. That story is still being told.

And so it will be for the C-5. With the coming of this air giant there will be for the first time an economic breakthrough on freight rates and the airlines will be able to compete directly and effectively with surface carriers—both land and water. The result will be revolutionary.

SEA POWER will no longer play the dominant role among nations that it once did and sea ports will lose their geographic advantage as great centers of commerce.

Countries with enormous land masses — such as Russia, China and Brazil — depend almost entirely on their coastlines for international trade. The driver of the car, Rita L. Marrett, 62, of 700 Midway Boulevard, Novato, was not cited.

Switchboard Deluged By Space Center Calls

SPACE CENTER, Houston, overhead in the command ship, (UPI)—One telephone caller was afraid the astronauts might accidentally be shut out of the moon lander. Another said the spaceship caused the moon to set early over his house.

Scores of calls—mostly offering congratulations, a few complaining—deluged space agency workers here when Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. walked on the surface of the moon. They came from the United States and several foreign countries.

"I've never seen phones ring so consistently this late at night," said a veteran space center spokesman.

Another complained his ear was sore from using the telephone so much.

One staffer said the telephone calls he had answered were mostly well-wishers suggesting some manner in which we could better run the mission.

He said one woman called from Canada to ask the news center to remind the astronauts to leave some artifacts behind on the moon's barren surface.

Another suggested the astronauts take the television camera off its stand and aim it at the sky so the sun's reflections off the lens could allow Michael Collins, circling a San Anselmo youth.

Buck Rogers

For Real In Spectacular

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — In television's greatest spectacular, astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin "Ed" Aldrin Jr. hopped about the surface of the moon, set up an American flag and snapped each other's pictures like two tourists.

As much of the world watched, Armstrong stepped from the Eagle to the lunar surface last night and said, "That's one small step for man, a giant leap for mankind."

The first live television pictures from another celestial body were as marvelous as the achievement of Apollo 11. It was all the Saturday matinees of Buck Rogers and Flash Gordon. But this was for real.

'AWESOME'

The brilliant sun and the deep shadows made for a contrasting image and the slow-scan black-and-white camera caused the picture to blur during movement. Still, there was no detracting from their awesome impact.

NBC estimated that 125 million Americans stayed up for the greatest late show ever, and that 123 million saw the ghostly image of Armstrong first step to the lunar surface.

ABC, which is handling the international pool coverage, estimates that possibly as many as 500 million people in North and South America, Europe, Asia and Australia and parts of Africa saw the moonwalk. Apparently only the Soviet Union and Communist China did not broadcast the transmission.

On the lunar surface, Armstrong and Aldrin enjoyed themselves like two kids in a new sandbox.

Aldrin did a trampoline act on the ladder. Armstrong did a dancing sidestep. Both hopped about as they tried out their lunar legs on the low-gravity moon. Then they set about the serious business of erecting equipment and gathering lunar samples.

NIXON

On a split screen, President Richard M. Nixon sent his good wishes to the astronauts and said he hoped their achievement would promote peace and tranquility.

Earlier, the networks used models and animation to show the lunar module Eagle's descent to the moon.

Even the cool words from the astronauts as they guided the craft down could not ease the tension until Armstrong announced: "Houston ... Tranquillity base here. The Eagle has landed."

It was a long, satisfying display of man's ingenuity and determination and the spirit of the intrepid astronauts.

It is not often that the world can share a common experience, particularly one of peaceful intent. It was a moving occasion that will be remembered and passed on for many years.

Cliff Pictures

CAMP, Colo. (AP) — Picture Canyon along the southern Colorado-Oklahoma boundary is well named. Indian pictographs, some in excellent condition, dot the cliff faces of the canyon, which is set incongruously in a vast stretch of flat grasslands.

U.S. Trackmen Defeat Russians; A Slim Turnout

LOS ANGELES (AP) — They had just finished handing out the medals at the conclusion of the U.S.-Soviet-British Commonwealth track meet when a football appeared on the green playing field of the Los Angeles Coliseum. Some athletes, it appeared, were as uninterested in the proceedings as the general public.

A total of 30,340 fans saw the meet Friday night and Saturday — a sharp drop from the crowds that have attended previous American-Russian track meets. AT STANFORD

In 1962, when the meet was at Stanford University, for instance, around 140,000 saw the two-day meet.

The Soviets and the British were surprised at the poor crowds and quick to point out how well the meet would have drawn abroad.

In Russia, said Janis Lusis, javelin world record holder who won the event at 277-3 Saturday, "we could have had 80,000 each day. In my country, the people love track and field."

Cub Pitching Starts To Look Stronger

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Chicago Cubs reached a hit, but the Mets gained a split when they scored the winning run of a 4-3 victory on Bobby Pfeil's squeeze bunt in the 10th inning of the second game.

The Atlanta Braves reached the All-Star break in first place in the West when they walked off the San Diego Padres, 10-0, and the San Francisco Giants defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers, 7-3, in yesterday's other games. St. Louis and Pittsburgh and Houston at Cincinnati were rained out.

Orlando Cepeda hit a three-run home run and Tony Gonzalez had three hits and two runs batted in to lead the Braves' 13-11 attack. Pat Jarvis pitched a six-hitter and struck out five as he raised his record to 8-7.

SOUND-PROOFED FOR NEIGHBORS

The prize structure at Hamburg's air terminal is a new sound-proof hangar, designed to permit testing of aircraft engines day and night without disturbing airport neighbors. Engines can be revved up and tested at high r.p.m.'s for hours in the structure, with the front of the building fully open, and still nearly all noise will be kept

Bank Of Marin Scheduled For Third-Floor Construction

Construction should start soon on a third floor addition to the Bank of Marin building at Fifth Avenue and B Street, San Rafael.

Ancona
Beier

There is a third floor "penthouse" on the building now, but Bank of Marin's recent addition of a full trust department requires more space. The additional 4,500 square feet planned by extending the penthouse all the way to the south side of the building on Fifth Avenue, with some shuffling of tenants, offices to the third floor, will allow trust department offices to be arranged on the second floor.

Third floor facade will be slightly different from the lower floors and will be designed with an overhang and open-type windows.

Architectural firm is Crawford and Banning. Bank of Marin has been discussing construction with Jacks and Irvine and steel is being ordered. Completion should be by the end of the year.

THE COTE D'AZUR apartments on the Sausalito waterfront have been sold by the T. J. Bettes Co. to Donald E. Werby and Associates. Purchase price was reported at "about $2.5 million."

Built approximately six years ago as a condominium by San Francisco developer Robert D. Fraser at a cost said to be over $2.5 million, the complex was soon acquired by the Bettes firm, which has operated continuously until now.

Werby and his group are reported to have acquired over $17 million of Bay Area properties in the past year, including the Edgewater chain of hotels in Long Beach, Oakland and Corte Madera, which are now under lease to the Hyatt Corp.
